

Ana I Galindo

June 12, 1934 - March 23, 2022

Ana I Galindo was a strong-willed and fiercely independent woman. At a period when most women were expected to be a doting housewife and mother, Ana chose to become a career woman. Though never married, she was surrounded by family and friends who loved her and whom she loved. She enjoyed her solitude and was content being alone but didn't mind socializing. Her adventurous spirit lead her to immigrate to America at a young age and to journey to many countries during her lifetime. She loved traveling, trying new cuisine and seeing different cultures. She lived her life how she wanted and when she wanted (usually about an hour behind everyone else :-). There was an air of sophistication and grace about her that she retained until the very end. Her body is at rest but her soul lives on with her sister and nieces in the presence of God's glory.

In the honor of her spirit of giving in lieu of flowers donations can be made to the Alzheimer's Association – www.alz.org , Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals - www.spcai.org/donate or St. Jude Children's Research Hospital - www.stjude.org .

“ My favorite memory is going to my Tia's for praying & singing in Spanish before Christmas. She'd make these drinks that were 90% alcohol with a touch of 7up. I'd bring her & Tia Elisa a pound cake that neither ever served. They saved it for after we left. Tia would bring out her bag of instruments. We'd all pick 1. We'd play them & sing between the prayers then eat. The time her is irreplaceable. I'm glad my children grew up with that tradition.

I always liked Ana. A nice lady. Used to travel a lot overseas. I used to hear some of her travel stories. Always asked me to get her some gold from India. Unfortunately it didn't materialize. I think she was a devout Catholic. RIP, Ana
