“ Chip was a kind man with a terrific sense of dry humor and a great laugh! He was a very nice neighbor and will be missed. Our thoughts are with his family at this difficult time. May God hold him in the palm of His hand. 🍀

“ Dad and I met on a snowy evening for last minute Christmas shopping and agreed to meet at a parking lot to a nearby mall. He arrived in his van and I arrived in my Jeep. Once we saw each other in our separate cars, we started doing donuts in the snow. I stopped and parked my car, but dad kept going. He caught a dry piece of pavement, gained traction, and bolted towards my car. He T-Boned my Jeep with his van on my driver side, so we were eye to eye as he pushed me several parking spots over. He loved to tell the story as recalling the utter shock in my eyes always made him laugh.
Love you, dad.
