“ Dear Eric, My sincere condolences to you and all of your family. I had the distinct pleasure to work with Pat as her assistant on the Daily News society page in the 1960s and various feature assignments. I owe her an incredible debt of gratitude for hiring me onto the Daily News where it was a privilege to work alongside her and other staff. She was key to a harmonious and lively features department. I learned so much from her (she was a tough task master when it came to submitting correct copy), but most of all I enjoyed her friendship in and out of the office, her instantaneous wit and great sense of humor not to mention a fearless stand to uphold journalistic ethics in the face of some demanding society matrons! I had not been in contact with Pat for the past several years, but will always cherish her memory. With sympathy, Janet Cartwright Moran
