“ Terry shared in the awe and beauty of glass. He installed a kiln in his basement and shared sandblasting in the back yard. He admired the color, thickness or texture of the glass, then made it into a work of art. He brilliantly lead others with great minds and was kind to the rest of us. Terry was an independent sort. He cast a long shadow but seemed to present with a quiet and calm soul. Terry will be missed greatly by his loving family, friends and the little furry one.
